Bible Society Receives Message From Coolidge

Sends Compliments and Best Wishes for Its Work to Ulster County Bible Society at Its 108th Annual Meeting—Learned of Society from ex-Mayor Canfield.

One hundred persons attended the 108th annual meeting of the Ulster County Bible Society held Tuesday night at St. James's M. E. Church. The meeting was called to order at 7:30 o'clock by the president, Hon. Palmer Canfield. The opening exercises were conducted by the Rev. J. W. Tetley, pastor of the St. James M. E. Church with Harry P. Dodge leading the singing.

The Rev. Mr. Tetley read from the scriptures and led in prayer following the singing of the "Old, Old Story," by the gathering, which then sang "How Firm a Foundation." Arthur M. Rifenbary sang a solo entitled "O Lamb of God."

Former Mayor Canfield then called on the Rev. Henry Smith to make his annual report which Mr. Canfield characterized as the most important feature of each annual meeting. The Rev. Smith read his report which reviewed the work of the society during the past year.

The audience was favored with a violin solo by Mrs. Florence Cuddeback at this time and also later, following the address of the president.

The report of the nominating committee was read and unanimously adopted as follows: President, Palmer Canfield; vice president, F. R. Fowler; secretary, the Rev. Henry Smith of Rifton; associate secretary, Luther S. Decker; treasurer, A. D. Rose.

The following directors whose terms had expired were re-elected: David Gill, Jr., and Dr. J. R. Nelson of this city, J. M. Barnard of High Falls, Leslie Herring of Ulster Park, E. P. Cole of Saugerties. For trustees, A. D. Rose of Kingston was re-elected.

The Rev. W. F. Stowe was elected director and John C. Shultz a trustee.

The following directors' terms run: John A. Snyder of Saugerties, N. Barnes of New Paltz, E. B. Calloway of Wallkill, Harcourt J. Pratt of Highland, H. Leo Breit of Phoenicia, Hon. Joel Brink of Lake Katrine, Arthur V. Hoornbeck and H. Westlake Coons of Ellenville, William F. Dedrick, H. H. Flemming, and H. A. Minor of Kingston.

The following trustees' terms are unexpired: Andrew M. Taylor and Sylvanus Van Aken of Port Jervis; William Hiltbrand, Hon. Walter N. Gill, F. R. Fowler, Ezra Spencer, Dayton Murray, and C. C. Ten Broeck of Kingston.

Following a solo by Mr. Rifenbary, former Mayor Canfield delivered his annual address, after which the Rev. J. J. McLaughlin, D. D., secretary of the eastern agency of the American Bible Society gave an illustrated lecture on the methods used in distributing Bibles among all nations. He said that the most effective method of distribution is by the means of colporteurs who today and everywhere are tramping the far corners of the earth with packs of Bibles upon their backs.

He showed pictures of colporteurs at work in every land. Mr. McLaughlin lived in the Philippines for twenty years and there he learned to depend on pageants to put across his ideas. He suggested that Kingston hold a Bible Day on a Sunday and have a mammoth parade, every one in it having a Bible in their hand. He thought that if it could be done in Springfield, Mass., with great success it could be staged in Kingston with equal or even greater success.

After the reading of the report of the resolution committee in which a tribute was paid to President Coolidge and thanking him for his interest in the society, the meeting adjourned with the singing of "Best Be the Tie that Binds."

President Canfield delivered his annual address as follows:

We meet for the one-hundred and eighth time but not in vain. The work of this society is not a hollow one. It does its work in a humble manner but it is a much needed work. If the good done by all organizations in this county during their entire existence were analyzed and weighed, our society would be found somewhere near the top.

While we celebrate our one-hundred and eighth anniversary in our movement from an auxiliary of the American Bible Society, this society has been another Bible society that has existed for a period of ten years or more previously to 1814. Each year we not only add another year of fruitful endeavor but another year of a "Smith" as the main bearer of the load. For over fifty years and counting the Rev. Henry Smith and his father William Smith have been associated with our society as secretary and agent of our society, in behalf of the society, I testify to his devotion and faithful service and the value of his service and to his God-fearing heart.

I also give thanks to all the officers and members for their help and cooperation.

Having stood the test of all these years, there is one to question the worth of the society? Is there one to question the necessity of its continuance? You have heard the report of the secretary. It gives a more synopsis of the things done and to be done. The lesson from it is that our work is not done. Let us do it.

As all should know, this society is non-sectarian. We have no spiritual class policy. It is our primary function to provide the Bible where needed. It is a trust. In carrying out this trust accepted over a century ago, the society will not falter. It is committed to us. We are entrusted with it. It is an obligation confided to us. It is a responsible trust. Let us fulfill it and wipe out Bible destitution in our county.

I suppose that not a year has passed during the past several centuries without a large number of persons emphasizing the special need of the Bible in the life of the people at these respective particular times. So it would seem in this day of modernism.

There are many today, especially in our Eastern colleges amongst instructors and students who are seriously questioning the Bible. Unfortunately quite a number are adopting or accepting atheism and pantheism. Some are claiming there is no God but the combined forces of law and science are manifested in the existing universe. Some express disbelief in the existence of a supreme intelligent Being. Some demand proof of the existence of God. They appear unconvinced of the validity of Christian faith. They are not inspired by it. They have either doubt or denial. They seem to think they have no spiritual needs. They ask for a more flexible Christian doctrine.

Two Dead From London Fog

By Telegram to The Freeman. London, Dec. 10.—The worst fog which London has experienced in sixteen years was responsible today for two deaths. Ten persons were injured, all through traffic accidents.

So dense was the fog that even street lamps were futile. Flares were lighted to guide traffic. London to Paris air planes were unable to make their scheduled trips and various sporting events were cancelled.

Channel traffic was almost entirely suspended, 100 steamers being held up at Gravesend.

response and better cooperation by the church people of the county. In 1830 over $1,000 was received. In 1835, 1,260 families were visited of which 150 had no Bible. A large county today have no Bible. In the years 1846-1849, over 6,000 families were visited and over 1,000 were without the Bible and over $3,000 was collected. In 1853-1855 over $3,000 was received by the society to supply Bible destitution. So today we find thousands of families in the county without a Bible where a Bible would be accepted if given.

We found over twenty school districts without any religious service and without the Bible even being read in the public schools. We have endeavored to meet this issue by the formation of Bible classes, and also by supplying the schools with Bibles and obtaining the consent of the trustees and of the teachers to have the Bible read without any comment, home and urging its reading.

This society has no duplicating agency. "Faith without works is dead." We need faith but we need the active support of the churches and their membership. We seek the attainment of a common objective. If we look forward with a united endeavor we will be assured of good results.

I had the privilege of a conference with our honored President, Calvin Coolidge, this past week. He has drawn to him the American people in an unusual way and to an unusual extent. He dignifies the office he holds which is the greatest office in the world. He has a very rare personality but one that has made it impress upon the minds of the people as evidenced by the certificate of approval given him a month ago.

It was his fidelity to the Constitution and his determined stand for law and order that above everything else marked him for the vice-presidency. It is said when he was notified over the telephone he had been nominated for vice-president, he turned to Mrs. Coolidge and said one word, "Nominated." His main characteristic is silence or brevity. It is recorded that in reply to a congratulatory letter of a friend who was being attacked, he wrote, "Thanks. Matt. 5:10, 11. C. C."

On August 2, 1923, the country was shocked with the announcement of the death of President Harding. Calvin Coolidge was living in simple style at his father's farm in Plymouth, Vermont. He was awakened at 2 o'clock in the morning to be informed he was President. The picture of his father administering the oath of office to his son in that farm cottage with the aid of a lamp thrilled the country and it responded and its response has not wavered. His short statement expressing sorrow at the loss of President Harding ended with the words, "I have faith that God will direct the destinies of our nation."

His first act as President was a visit to his mother's grave on his way to Washington. Such is Calvin Coolidge. Divine faith rules his destiny. It was more than a special privilege to present to our President the work of the Ulster County Bible Society on Wednesday last at a time when he was to leave in a few hours upon a two-day trip. Many high officials were waiting in numbers to see him. For a short period of time the Ulster County Bible Society was the subject of consideration by the Chief Executive of our Nation while those impatiently waiting waited.

To those impatiently waiting to see our patient President the work of this Society might seem to be hardly of sufficient importance to occupy his attention. To him it was sufficiently important. So at the very time his annual message was being read in Congress he presented his good wishes in person to our society. I was requested to leave a little note about our annual meeting. Apparently, upon the return from his trip, one of his first acts was to address a letter to me giving expression in writing over his signature to his friendly interest in our society.

May this letter and the interest exhibited by it stimulate our efforts and inspire us with renewed vigor to a better service and a greater success.

President Canfield read the letter as follows:

The White House, Washington, December 6, 1924.

My dear Mr. Canfield:

Thank you for your note telling me of the annual meeting of the Ulster County Bible Society, the oldest organization of its kind in the country.

I wish you would present my compliments to the members at the time of the meeting, with my best wishes for the contributing success of its work.

Very truly yours, CALVIN COOLIDGE.

Mr. Palmer Canfield, 1147 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

Retail Prices of Food Increased

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, Dec. 10.—Retail food prices took an upward trend in 19 leading cities during November, ranging from less than five tenths of one per cent in Detroit, to three per cent in Rochester, N. Y., the department of labor announced today.

On increase of 2 per cent was reported by New Haven, New York and Portland, Maine, while Boston and Fall River, Mass., reported an increase of one per cent.

Compared with the average cost in 1912, the retail cost of food on November 15, 1924 was 56 per cent higher in New York; 54 per cent in Boston; 52 per cent in New Haven; 51 per cent in Fall River and 49 per cent in Manchester.

Comparative prices were not obtainable for Portland or Rochester.

Budget Adopted By Health Board

Will Ask For Appropriation of $12,309.22 To Carry On Health Work in 1925—Somewhat Less Than Last Year's Appropriation—Other Matters.

The board of health at its regular meeting Tuesday evening adopted its budget for 1925 calling for an appropriation of $12,309.22, which is about $600 less than last year's budget. The decrease this year is due to the fact that some new and modern equipment is being installed in the city laboratory to make blood tests, and it is expected that the income from that source will be larger next year than this year.

Health Officer Connolly reported that there was a case of diphtheria under quarantine which was receiving attention. He also stated that he had received a request from Sheldon Lasher at Woodstock for a permit to sell his milk in Kingston, and that he and Dr. Harold Clarke inspect Mr. Lasher's milk facilities, and if they were found to comply with the sanitary code that a permit to sell his milk here would be granted.

The reports of the officers will be found elsewhere.

Mayor Morris Brock presided with Commissioners Hasbrouck, Huhne, Hickey, Norwood, McBride and Kaufman present.

Damage Suit in Supreme Court

Isaac T. Mesereau Sues Owner of Automobile Which Knocked Him Down at Rhinebeck Ferry House—Arm and Hip Broken and Other Injuries Received.

An action for $10,000 damages for personal injuries brought by Isaac T. Mesereau against Percy Taylor was taken up for trial before Judge Staley and a jury in the Supreme court this morning.

Mesereau was struck and run over by an automobile operated by defendant on May 21, 1922, at the Rhinebeck ferry house. At the time of the accident Mr. Mesereau had been to the ferry to see a relative and had just left the ferry house. The car operated by defendant had stopped at the ferry house to discharge passengers and was backing up at the time of the accident.

Plaintiff suffered a broken hip, a broken arm and other severe injuries which prevented him from working for eleven weeks.

Mr. Mesereau contends that he had just left the ferry place and was standing at the end of the rail under the shed near the street. He saw the car of the defendant come and stop just beyond the cross-walk. He warned the occupants of the car to hurry as the ferry was about to pull out. He turned partly in the opposite direction from the car and looked up the street. The car was standing still at the time. Next he knew he was struck by the car. He claims no warning was given of the intention of the driver to back up. At the time he was struck he was just past the end of the rail which the walk and was standing on the runs under the ferry shed along cross-walk preparatory to crossing the street.

Defendant claims that warning was given and that Mr. Mesereau was not looking at the time of the accident but was waving good-bye to friends on the ferry boat.

Several witnesses were sworn by plaintiff. One testified that after Mr. Mesereau was knocked down the car ran over his arm and came to a stop before the front wheels reached him. At that time Mr. Mesereau's feet were about two feet from the crosswalk and his head lay further away.

Hon. Walter N. Gill appeared for plaintiff and Louis Van Etten for defendant.

The case was continued this afternoon.

Clump Lid on Soft Drinks. The Middlesex common council passed a local law Monday evening making it a misdemeanor for any person to place a clump lid on any soft drink place to stay open between the hours of midnight and 4 o'clock the following morning. Violation of the ordinance is punishable by $100 fine or 24 days imprisonment, or both. Places selling tea, coffee, milk, chocolate or cocoa are excepted.

Trotsky Ill, May Be Poisoned

Has Been Living in Night Different Houses to Confuse His Enemies—Condition Serious—Warmer Climate Recommended.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Moscow, Dec. 10.—Leon Trotsky, Soviet commissar for war, is seriously ill.

Trotsky has been the target for attacks from many angles recently, said to have for their purpose his ejection from the political bureau of the body controlling the red government. He has made no answer to his critics.

The following bulletin was issued today by Trotsky's physicians: "On November 24 the undersigned examined Trotsky, finding a feverish condition which was aggravated by grippa lasting ten days. A second examination, December 5, showed persistent abnormal temperature. Despite the measures taken, the present high temperature is analogous to last year's temperature and results from an irritation of the bronchial glands. This in turn, was brought on by the climatic change which Trotsky made, it being dry in the Caucasus and damp in Moscow."

"We think Trotsky should hasten his departure to a health resort where he will be in a warmer climate."

Poisoning Intimated in London. London, December 10.—The anti-Soviet Evening News today intimated that possibly Leon Trotsky, Soviet commissar of war, has been poisoned. The News says he has feared attacks and has been living in eight different houses in order constantly to change his abode and thus confuse his enemies.

The theory was advanced in diplomatic circles that the illness of Trotsky might be entirely "diplomatic." Reports have been reaching London for some time of an anti-Trotsky movement in Russia and the suggestion is made here that Trotsky may be planning quietly to withdraw from Russia. Unconfirmed rumors have been drifting into London, too, that there has been fighting in Baikan centers between Trotsky troops and Zinoviev forces.

The reports of the officers will be found elsewhere.

WDBZ Kingston To Broadcast

Test Tuesday Evening Considered Success—Official Opening Program To Be Broadcast Thursday.

Station WDBZ, Kingston, Ulster County Boy Scout broadcast station, with studio at the city hall building was given its first night test Tuesday when a musical program was broadcasted. From the number of telephonic communications received by Chief Nesslage the test was successful.

Radio owners, who enjoyed the program throughout the city and county informed the scout executive that they received the program clearly and were able to tune out and receive other stations. This morning at scout headquarters messages were received congratulating those who took part in the test.

The official opening of the station will be held Thursday evening, when Mayor Brock will give an address. There will also be a musical program given. Included on the opening program will be selections from an orchestra composed of boy scouts from Saugerties.

Anyone desirous of assisting in this program is requested to notify the scout headquarters by telephoning 504.

Cases Before the Supreme Court

Harold Eignor was awarded a verdict of $104.71 against Ara Miner at an inquest held before Judge Staley and a jury in supreme court this morning.

The awarded amount covered services rendered by the plaintiff to the defendant from December 28, 1922, to March 24, 1923, and rent for use of plaintiff's car, a loan made by the plaintiff to defendant, and interest.

Two cases were announced as settled out of court. One, the action of Joseph St. Paul against John T. Beatty and Harry J. Beatty, for negligence; the other, the case of Anna Schermerhorn against Anna De Mott. Attorneys in the first case were William D. Brinsler for plaintiff and Van Etten & Cook for defendant; in the second case, Francis C. Merritt for plaintiff and Henry Klein for defendant.

Dr. Ray Going to Honolulu. Dr. Mary Gage-Day left today to-day to join her brother, Prof. Simon F. Gage, of Ithaca, and Prof. and Mrs. J. H. Constock in New York city. Tomorrow afternoon the party will sail on the President Hayes for Honolulu, via the Panama Canal. They will remain in Honolulu two months, returning to San Francisco and then overland home. They expect to arrive at home about the first of April. Dr. Day's address referred to is "Gray's corner," Honolulu, Hawaii.

Magician Fights Tonight. This evening the third number of the Wizard Club program will be given. Davis, magician, will be the attraction. He will begin his performance at 8:15 p.m. and the entertainment will continue until 11:30 p.m. Tickets are 50c and 75c.

"Model" Normal School Burned

Six of Nine Buildings Destroyed—Damage Estimated at $1,000,000—Firemen Pump One Pond Dry And Stretch Hose to Another.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Bridgewater, Mass., Dec. 10.—Damage estimated at $1,000,000 was caused early today by a fire which destroyed six of the nine buildings of the Bridgewater State Normal School here. More than 700 students were forced to flee in night attire.

Three dormitories were destroyed as well as Normal Hall, the new $400,000 class room building. An inadequate water supply hampered the firemen. After all the water had been pumped from a pond on the campus, a line of hose was laid to another pond a half mile away. Fire fighting apparatus was called from West Bridgewater, Middleboro, Whitman and Brockton. Chief W. P. Daley, of the Brockton fire department suffered a fracture of the leg and was probably internally injured while fighting the fire. He is at the Brockton hospital. The school is known as the "model" normal school.

The following bulletin was issued today by the fire department: "The undersigned examined the damage to the buildings of the Bridgewater State Normal School, finding a fire which was aggravated by grippa lasting ten days. A second examination, December 5, showed persistent abnormal temperature. Despite the measures taken, the present high temperature is analogous to last year's temperature and results from an irritation of the bronchial glands. Place of Church In Community

The Rev. Robert A. Greenwell Talks to Rotary Club Members on "The Community Church"—People Not Less Religious Than Formerly.

"The Community Church" was the topic discussed by the Rev. R. A. Greenwell at the Rotary Club luncheon this week. The church of former days was an edifice of one room, opened for a few hours once a week and everybody went to church. There was no other places to go. Now there are other places and not so large a percentage of the people attend church services. People are not less religious, for there is no other subject that will draw and hold people as religion will. All men ought to unite with the church of their choice, but the church has failed to keep pace with the times. The stage was lost of the church, but the church has lost its hold on the stage. If a few more men like William J. Bryan are listened to the church will be divorced from the university.

The church should lead in education, religion and solid uplift, but how can it do this if it is open only two hours a week? The ideal church will serve every need of the community. The time is coming when the churches will abolish the necessity for a Y. M. C. A. by doing the work themselves. The "Y" came into existence because of the shortcoming of the church.

Mr. Greenwell closed with a description of his church, which has 24 rooms, kitchen, gymnasium, baths and other conveniences and is open 365 days in the year, but still lacks much to make it an ideal church.

Consolidation of Rail Systems

President Coolidge Initiates Movement Permitting Voluntary Action by Railroads—Administration Will Not Attempt Freight Rate Legislation.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, Dec. 10.—In the hope of solving America's railroad problem the Coolidge administration has inaugurated in congress legislation permitting a voluntary consolidation of the nation's rail systems.

President Coolidge himself took the initiative, it was learned today. In a series of conferences with Congressional leaders.

As a further step toward railroad peace, administration leaders have met with representatives of organized labor in an effort to compromise the employees' deficiencies. The conference it was said, resulted in an agreement to completely revise the railroad labor board's powers and to create a new tribunal, armed with authority to render compulsory decision in disputes where a strike was threatened.

There will be no attempt made, however, to legislate on railroad freight rates, although a concession may be made to agriculture by declaring it a basic industry entitled to preferential rates.

The consolidation bill will be given precedence and an effort made to enact it at the present session.

IMPLICATION OF LIVES RESPONSIBLE FOR ERRORS. Through a duplication of lines in the advertisement of the Up-to-Date Company in Tuesday's Freeman it appeared that the company was offering dresses "Made to sell from $12.50 to $15.00" at $15.00. The dresses advertised were made to sell for $15.00 to $18.00. The other price, erroneously stated, referred to the sale of fine fur coats.

U. S. Will Press War Claims

Our Government Considers Untenable the British Position That We Should Not Share in German Reparations Under Dawes Plan.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, Dec. 10.—Secretary of State Hughes will dispatch a note to Great Britain in a few days in which the British government will be informed that the United States regards as entirely untenable the British position that America should not share on a pro-rata basis with other nations in the money that Germany pays through the Dawes plan to meet her reparations.

The note from Mr. Hughes will be in reply to the one received from the British foreign office last night, and which is described as "a firm objection" to the United States getting anything at all out of the Dawes plan proceeds to apply on what Germany owes this country.

It is likely that the American reply will meet firmness with firmness.

Britain Makes Explanation. London, Dec. 10.—Explanation was made by the foreign office this afternoon of circumstances which prompted Great Britain's note to Washington on the subject of war debts.

The note the foreign office said, was a reply to a note received from Washington regarding the situation. In replying the British government maintained that the United States was not entitled to benefits under the Versailles treaty, and, further, that the United States could not admit that the United States had legal grounds for a claim under the Dawes plan.

The British government, in its note, then asked the United States for further information of the American view point. No formal protest was made, the foreign office declared.

Great Britain desires to avoid a controversy and hopes for a friendly settlement of the problem, it was stated. The British-American war debt controversy flared up again today in the House of Commons. Sir John Simon bitterly denounced the war debt situation. He said:

"The United States was unwilling to lend money to the Allies without a British guarantee but now it is collecting from France without consulting Great Britain."

He declared the situation was becoming intolerable and asked what Chancellor Churchill proposed to do about it.

The foreign office made it emphatic that Great Britain did not intend the note as a protest. It merely embraced the British view point, it was stated. It is hoped the foreign office said, satisfactorily to the whole problem at the Paris conference in January.

ULSTER COUNTY CHICKENS AGAIN WIN PRIZES

Once more Ulster county chickens have gone out to compete with birds from other counties for honors. An article in the Ithaca Journal of December 4 gives an account of the Production Show held at the state college December 2, 3 and 4, with one thousand birds entered.

The Cedar Glen Poultry Farm of Ulster Park, whose birds won at the state fair at Syracuse in September, has again been a winner at this show. Its pair of pullets won first prize of 15 entries, which speaks well for the stock raised there, for there was keen competition in this class. The cockerel which won at the state fair also won at this show. The farm, located near Rifton, is always open for visitors.

MIKE BUBOLTZ RECEIVED A SUSPENDED JAIL SENTENCE

Tuesday afternoon the police were called to the home of Mike Buboltz, corner Delaware avenue and Murray street, where Mike was creating a disturbance. At the request of Mike's wife he was placed under arrest by Officers Aley and Hansen. This morning in police court Judge Schirch imposed a jail sentence of thirty days, but suspended the sentence of the sentence provided Mike behaved himself in the future, which Mike promised to do.

Benjamin Myers, arrested Tuesday for operating an unlicensed automobile, was discharged.

HOLD TWO FOR ACTION OF GRAND JURY

Cornelius Banks and Frank Bush were arrested at Alwood on Tuesday morning by Sergeant James Caponeham. State Trooper Cartright and Deputy Sheriff Ellsworth on a warrant charging them with burglary. The two were wanted for entering the house of Greene Lockwood, on the Marbletown road, on July 6 last, and for burglary. They were taken before Justice of the Peace Henry Davis at Alwood. After hearing they were held to await the action of the grand jury.

Church Entertainment. On Thursday evening, the Old Land Club of the Kingston Lutheran Church, corner Spring and Elm streets, will give a church social. The program will include a musical entertainment, a lecture and a social hour. Tickets are 50c and 75c.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. will be held on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. The Y. M. C. A. has charge of the decorations and an interesting program will be given.

K. H. S. Seniors Wearing Rings

Local Grid Team Will Be Guests Tonight of Hi-Y Club—Seniors Practice for Coming Play.

Tuesday afternoon the members of the Kingston High School Senior Class received their class rings. The fine cooperation of the members of the class and the prompt shipment by the company has enabled the students to wear their rings before Christmas this year, while in past years the classes have had to wait until about Easter for their emblems.

The Hi-Y Club of the high school will give a banquet to the members of the K. H. S. football team at the Y. M. C. A. this evening. Leslie Mann, an all around athlete, football coach and big league baseball player, will speak at this annual occasion.

Try-outs were held last week at the local high school for all candidates for the senior play. There were nine parts for boys and three for girls. The name of the play is "Grumpy." This famous play made a great hit a few years ago in New York and other big cities.

Fine Mahogany Trees

A recently discovered species of mahogany of gigantic size exists on the western coast of Panama at the San Lorenzo river, and the American museum bird-hunting expedition of Louis Orlan and three assistants found it to be one of the commonest trees of the primeval forest of the little-known region, according to the Baltimore Sun.

One superb specimen proved to be 7 feet in diameter, 6 feet from the ground and to measure 152 feet from the base to the first limb. The perfectly symmetrical trunk, which is illustrated in natural history, had at the grandeur of a cathedral column. Though new shaped, other trees were even larger and one had a diameter of 15 feet at 6 feet from the ground. The forest abounded in wild life, at least 200 species of birds occurring in the vicinity.

Islam's Holy City

Arabian city of Mecca, situated 24 miles south of Medina, is famous for being the birthplace of Mohammed (571 A. D.), and the holy city of Islam. Mecca contains the Great Mosque, a magnificent temple, which is annually visited by hundreds of thousands of pilgrims. Near the city is a cave where it is said the prophet was accustomed to retire to perform his devotions, and where in 604 the Koran was revealed to him by the angel Gabriel. In 622 Mohammed, to escape from his enemies, fled from Mecca, and after a journey of 16 days to Medina and the arrival of a small following, he proclaimed himself prophet of the Mohammedan era. English Cider Customs Cider making is quite an institution in England. John Phillips, the poet, praised the sweet Hereford cider as surpassing Tokay and all other foreign vintages. A footnote to history relates that the earl of Manchester, ambassador in France, frequently palmed off this sweet cider on the French nobles as a wine beyond price. In the West country the old ritual called "Grigging" is remembered, country boys forming bands to tour the orchards, and climb after the small worthless apples, or griggles. The ringdancer would be expected to report at the farmhouse, and recite a certain moral fable, entitled "A Rude Boy Stealing Apples," and telling of such rude ones' fate. The good wife of the farm would then pour out cider for all, a libation to insure her protection, another year, against rude robbers.

Regrowing Forests

The regrowth of timber provided for in the national forests where the original stand of timber is cut and removed varies with the forest types involved. In many forest types the regrowth is present in the form of seedlings or saplings at the time that the overstory of old and mature timber is removed. Where this is not the case carefully selected trees are left standing. From these trees come the seed that regenerate the area. In the case of Douglas fir on the Pacific coast, seed is stored up of such quantities in the soil on the ground that the best results are obtained by cutting the area clean and depending on this stored seed supply for regeneration. In some cases it is necessary to plant after cutting in order to insure a second crop within a reasonable time.

Only a Dream

Hubby dreamed recently. His wife and her mother were talking. The latter was saying: "You have indeed secured a splendid husband, and I think you ought to treat him with a little more tact and consideration. He's always went to know where he's going, and if he comes home a little late, he's a good fellow and will wait to explain before you begin asking a lot of awkward questions. He's just short to appreciate any generosity on your part. He tried to kiss me." Hubby stirred uneasily, trying to see more, when he awoke.

TODAY WE CELEBRATE

CATHERINE DESCARTES.

Was the daughter of a councillor of the parliament of Brittany, and niece of the celebrated philosopher of that name.

She was, from her learning and talents, so worthy of her origin, that it was said, "the mind of the great Descartes had fallen on a distaff." Her largest work was an account of the death of her uncle in prose and verse. She led a very quiet life in Brittany, and died in 1706, of a disease brought on by hard study. She was born at Rennes, in 1635.

EAST LYNNE.

The first American theatrical production of "East Lynne" was reviewed in the New York papers sixty-one years ago today. The critics disagreed as to the merits of the drama, which had been seen at Niblo's Garden the night before, and some foresaw that it was destined to become the most popular play of the century. Since then thousands of companies of every grade have played "East Lynne," and it has been staged in every theatre, and village "Opera House" in the United States and Canada, and up to the advent of the movies it was the sure refuge of all barn-storming troupes. The play is from the novel by Mrs. Henry Wood, an English novelist, who was born January 17, 1813.

POSTAL SERVICE.

The first regular postal service between two American cities was established 252 years ago today, December 10, 1672, when the government of New York inaugurated a regular monthly post to Boston. Some 33 years before that date a post office had been opened in Boston at the house of Richard Fairbanks "for all letters which are brought from beyond the sea, or are to be sent thither." In 1657 the Virginia Assembly provided for the "rapid transmission" of official communications from plantation to plantation on penalty of one hog-head of tobacco for each default. In 1676 the colonial court of Massachusetts founded an official post office in Boston, with John Heyward as first postmaster. The first parliamentary act for the establishment of a postal system in the English-American colonies was passed in 1692, and a royal patent was granted to Thomas Neale who was authorized to transport letters at such rates "as planters should agree to give." The English postal system was extended to the Colonies in 1710. The rate for a single letter from London to New York was one shilling and fourpence, with an additional charge of four pence for each sixty miles from New York.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Simple One-Piece Apron.

4912. Striped seersucker or percale would be very good for this model. Drill, muslin and cottons are also pleasing and serviceable. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: Small, 24-26; medium, 28-30; large, 32-34; extra large, 34-36 inches bust measure. A medium size requires 3 1/2 yards of 36 inch material. This model is cut without undergarments.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Fashion Book Notes.
Send 15c in coin or stamps to The Freeman for our up-to-date fall and winter 1924-1925 Book of Fashions, showing color photos, and containing 100 designs of "ladies", "misses" and "children's" patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some notes for the needle (illustration 30 of the various simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

Red Indian Vocabulary

The Smithsonian Institution states that the old idea that the vocabularies of civilized tribes, especially the Indian tribes, was very limited, has been disproven. They have every reason to believe that the vocabulary of such tribes was quite as large as that of modern languages and that such tribes were able to express the most complicated ideas.

Constitutional Mist

From now on, a person getting his fingers in his ears is a moving railroad train and must neither carry any nor consume. It is about the only way to carry on a satisfactory conversation. The speaker need not raise his voice above an ordinary conversational tone if the listener will plug his ears with his finger-tips.

Molasses pie Gingersnaps

—with the teasing flavor of real, old-time molasses.

This is the way famous Southern cooks make Molasses Pie:

Pour 1 1/4 cups of scalded milk over 1 whole egg and yolks of 2, slightly beaten. Add 1/2 cup Gold Label Brer Rabbit Molasses, 1/2 teaspoon each cinnamon and nutmeg, and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Line a ten-inch tin with pastry and fill. Bake until a knife comes out clean. Cover with meringue made of the two remaining egg whites and 2 tablespoons powdered sugar. Brown in hot oven.

Pure molasses is rich in the mineral salts doctors say we need. Like milk it is rich in calcium and like spinach it is rich in iron.

The Brer Rabbit Recipe Book will tell you how to make Old Mammy Cabin Style Ginger Cookies. Brer Rabbit gives them the flavor you've been longing for since you were a child.

Made in two grades—Gold Label for table use and fancy cooking—Green Label, a somewhat stronger flavored molasses for general cooking.

FREE RECIPE BOOK:
Send to Dept. N-3, Penick & Ford, Ltd., New Orleans, La., for the Brer Rabbit book of delicious molasses recipes.

TWO GRADES—GOLD LABEL AND GREEN LABEL—AT YOUR GROCER'S

MILTON.

Milton, Dec. 10.—Arthur E. Bell is seriously ill at a New York hospital with pneumonia. His many friends hope for his speedy recovery.

Edward Wood, who was operated upon at St. Luke's Hospital for appendicitis last week, is improving slowly and will not be able to return home for two weeks. His many friends hope for his speedy recovery.

The next meeting of the Milton Grange will be held December 15. All members are requested to bring their children and an inexpensive gift. Presents collected will be distributed among the children.

The Rev. W. S. Lamborn, of New York city has been engaged to supply the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church. He conducted the service last Sunday morning. The Rev. Mr. Lamborn is an ordained minister and not a student. He is taking a post graduate course in the Theological Seminary in New York.

The Ladies' Sewing Society of the Presbyterian Church held its annual meeting at the home of Mrs. C. M. Woolley last Thursday afternoon and the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. G. W. Ballou; vice president, Mrs. P. A. Lynn; secretary, Mrs. William R. Ordway; treasurer, Miss Florence Woolley. A decorative committee was appointed for the Christmas entertainment to be held at the church. The committee is as follows: John Young, Ralph Martin, Miss Florence Woolley and Mrs. W. R. Ordway. It has not yet been decided whether the entertainment will be held this year, but the Christmas supper will be given on the evening of December 25, in the church parlor.

The following delegates have been appointed to attend the Outer County Farmers Grange meeting at Chatham: Mrs. Edward Young, Mr.

ton, Charles Blומר, Marlborough; and Harry Vandervort, Highland.

The food sale given last Saturday afternoon by the ladies of All Saints Church was a great success. Large quantities of cakes, pies, rolls and butts, etc., were readily disposed of to those who attended the sale.

Anyone having books belonging to the Sarah Hull Hall Free Library is requested to bring them to the library at the earliest opportunity. Several have books they have not returned. There is a fine of one cent a day for every book that is overdue.

R. W. Hallock's vinegar factory, which has been running overtime during this fall, will close this week. The output this season has been somewhat smaller than last season, due to the late start of the fruit season last spring.

J. A. Hepworth of Marlborough, who with his wife spends the winter months at Miami, Fla., has been appointed a member of the board of Florida Home.

Mrs. and Mrs. C. J. Hepworth and son, Claude, expect to start for Florida by motor this week.

Thomas Jenkins of Oakwood Seminary was a week end guest at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Jenkins.

A meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the home of Mrs. A. E. Clarke Friday afternoon at 2:30. Mrs. D. M. Warren will have charge of the musical program, appropriate to the Christmas holiday.

Cure of Goldfish

Many goldfish are killed by mistake. There is a widespread belief that the water needs changing frequently, but this is a mistake. The chief cause of impurity in the water is the use of too much food at the evening and morning feedings. The subject of his text was "The House of Life."

Style and Grace in Outdoor Togs

Boyish Clothes Have Call and Are Regarded as Ultra Smart.

The ever-growing love for the life out-of-doors is reflected in apparel designed for days in the open. The girl of the hour is the sports type, says a fashion writer in the New York Times. She is the country girl of the Twentieth century, a creature of athletic femininity, of style and grace and dash, and the very best designers put their very best imagination and workmanship into the things that make up her equipment.

The really smart woman of today is the sportswoman, and her togs are worn by even those who form the "gallery" at sports events. Few are guilty, these days, of overdressing at outdoor affairs. It simply "isn't done," and sports clothes on these occasions are the proper thing quite as much for the audience as for the actors.

Necessary uniformity in sports and semi-sports styles suggests the dress of the Scotch highlands, whose plaids are being reproduced in the very latest weavens and introduced in most effective ways in out-of-doors costumes. The simplicity, even severity, of this type of dress is costly and demands more nearly exact skill on the part of the tailor than softer more elaborate clothes, and variation is a problem.

The Scotch tartans offer a most picturesque quality, and some of the most stunning outfits for sports and general country wear receive more importance from the introduction of one of these. Among the newest fabrics are reproductions of historic patterns that have an artistic value far above the ordi-many commercial merchandise. The display in the largest shops is arresting and fascinating, and one is able to select a tartan that has for her the most sentimental appeal.

She may like the plaid of the Gordon Highlanders or the Mackenzies—the ever-stylish green and blue with overtones of red and white, or yellow; or the black and green of the Black Watch tartan, the hot, bright red and white of the Stewarts, Rob Roy's black and red, the Camerons' red and black, the MacDougalls' red and hunter's green, the Gabriels', the Seaforth Highlanders', the Skyes', or the shepherd's tartan in black and white that as "shepherd's plaid" has long been a staple among materials for tailored things.

This fancy for Scotch plaids has become the rage, and they are used in a great variety of ways. Some saucy little suits are built of a clan tartan alone—showy—but wanting a clean-cut, "upstanding" sort of girl to wear them. Now and again one sees a genuine Scotch suit in the junior class, made of a Mackenzie or a MacDougall tartan for the kilted skirt, jacket of plain blue or green, and the costume completed with sporrans and glen-garry. The sight of such a costume always revives one's faith in tradition, poetry and patriotism, which are not always to be spelled from modern dress.

Bead Combinations to Add to Accessories

One kind of bead to make a string is quite the correct thing, but it is never to have two or three shapes such as a triangle, a cube and a barrel all on one string, but divided by a small bit of round jet or crystal. The combination of color is also noted. Strings of blue beads, say turquoise and gold are twisted together with a barrel bead at intervals.

One of the newest fancies in necklaces is a combination of pearls and amber, say, six or eight pearls, according to the size, with three small barrel-shaped amber beads and then the same number of pearls, etc. Pearls string this way are, of course, not so generally useful as when used alone, as neither amber nor any other stone can be worn with every costume as can pearls.

Keeping It Dark

In Manchester, England, a man-trustee was remarked: "You are mistaken," was interrupted somewhat indignantly by the exclamation: "Hey, not so loud—it ain't a thing I heard about, anyway!"

Charming Winter Hat of Black Felt, Velvet Trim

Black felt with velvet bow and band, with brown band with black velvet to help retain its shape, are the interesting features of this chaparral.

Rainy-Day Precautions in Care of Wearables

Wet garments should be dried at once and properly they will mellow and get out of shape. Coats should be brushed to remove any dust which the dampness is likely to hold, then placed on a hanger where there will be a free circulation of air. It is sometimes desirable to press a garment when it is nearly dry to restore the surface, brush and proper creases. In such a case, put a piece of thin, white cloth between the iron and the material.

Skirts should be brushed also and put on a hanger of the right shape. Umbrellas should be dried by placing on their handles with the tip up. This is to prevent rotting of the fabric where the ribs come together. Avoid putting an umbrella up when it is wet, as it breaks the ribs to stretch the wet cloth over them, and the umbrella is never likely to close properly afterwards. Never permit an umbrella rack to be crowded full so some one is sure to force the point of an umbrella through the cover of another one.

Damp shoes should be dried slowly, otherwise the leather will crack, and after they are dry they should be dressed to renew the finish.

Gay-Colored Scarf an Important Accessory

The scarf is distinctly the most important novelty of the season among accessories of dress. The fashion has grown in an amazing manner, representing the genius of the best designers, and now the greater number of Parisian gowns have the scarf as a feature, and the separate scarf is shown in every conceivable type and pattern.

With the preparation for cold weather, a variety of scarves are shown, in gay-colored weaves of ribbedness weight, and in the jersey silk. These are usually double-faced and of two colors. Some of the latest are made of a solid color, scarlet, orange, green, white, with wide end border and fringe of black.

Other chic little scarfs to be worn with the tailored frocks and sports suits are worn in gay striped silk, copying the Roman wash with knotted fringe. The most unusual is knitted in three colors or in large plaids and checks.

Vinegar for Longevity

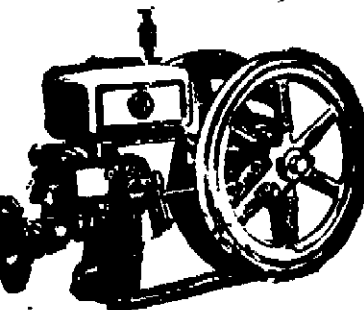

A man died in the apple district of New York who had spent nearly all of his seventy-two years in the manufacture of vinegar and he had contended for years that the secret of his longevity was the character of his work and it seems as if there might be something in his contention, for almost simultaneously there comes a story from England where the ages of four employees aggregate 200 years. The oldest of this group was nearly ninety and the youngest nearly seventy. The proprietor of this establishment told he knew of another vinegar distillery where there were four generations of one family at work.

"Bidding Prayer"

A prayer which bids or directs what is to be prayed for is frequently known as a bidding prayer. This form of intercession, always concluding with the Lord's Prayer, was enjoined by the 39th canon of the Anglican church in 1549, to be used before all services and benedictions. It was, and in its original form still is, very important, allowing individuals to supply from their own knowledge special cases of necessity under the different heads.

THE COAL CARS

They were traveling along a narrow river and they were very proud of themselves. They didn't look to the right, nor to the left. Nor did they turn around. They were very dignified, yes, really most dignified.

They didn't smile. They didn't speak. They didn't move from side to side.

They were coal cars, and they were traveling along on a float and were being drawn by a tug boat.

It was a nice float, and the little tug boat was splendid. It almost seemed to have its head thrown back, so splendidly did it carry them along. And the coal cars behaved in a very dignified, splendid manner, for it was so fine to be traveling.

They were so proud of themselves! One coal car spoke now to another. They hadn't spoken before.

And now that they did speak, they spoke in tones so low you could never have properly heard them.

"This is pretty fine," said the first coal car, in its low, low coal car voice.

"Pretty fine," said the next coal car. "Traveling along the river—right on the river is not what every coal car does."

"In fact, it is very unusual for a train or a car or anything belonging to our family to be traveling in this fashion."

"Usually, we travel on rails, and if we go along a river we go along by it because the tracks are by the river."

"But we're on the river now."

"We're taking a real boat ride."

"Yes," said the first coal car. "We're boating coal cars."

"We can say when we get back to the yards again."

"We've been on a boating trip, and it did us a world of good."

"We can also say."

"Yes, we thought we'd take a little camping trip down the river. We have been where it is warm, too. Oh, we're very superior.

There Are People Living on Boats.

"Then we can say."

"There is nothing like the water for a change."

The coal cars were quiet again for a long, long while. They liked this peaceful, pleasant, restful trip. It was such a change from the shunting and the rushing, noisy way they traveled on land.

To be sure, they never dashed through the country as the passenger trains did.

But compared to this they traveled very noisily, indeed.

This was lovely!

And once again the first coal car spoke to the second coal car.

"The air is nice," the first coal car said. "It's so pleasant that I shouldn't think we'd be needed for warmth around these parts."

"We would be nice for a fire for cooking, though," said the second coal car. "That is," the second coal car added: "I mean the coal that is in our cars would be nice for cooking."

"That is, I mean, that the coal that is in our cars would be nice to light a fire which would cook good things."

"That is what I mean."

"I understand," said the other coal car.

"No one understands one coal car better than another coal car. But let us just rest now and not talk any more."

"It is so clean, so pretty along here. The sights are all so interesting."

"There are people living on boats—actually right on them. That looks nice, too."

"Oh, this is really the most beautiful trip."

"The most beautiful trip," agreed the other.

And quietly, rather slowly, but happily the coal cars were pulled along the river.

No Riddle

"I want to tell you a riddle, and you are if you can guess it."

"All right, go ahead."

"What is it that has four legs, a tail, and bark?"

"A dog."

"Ah, I see, somebody's told it to you."—Ludwig Blatter (Berlin).

Just as Well Break Eighth

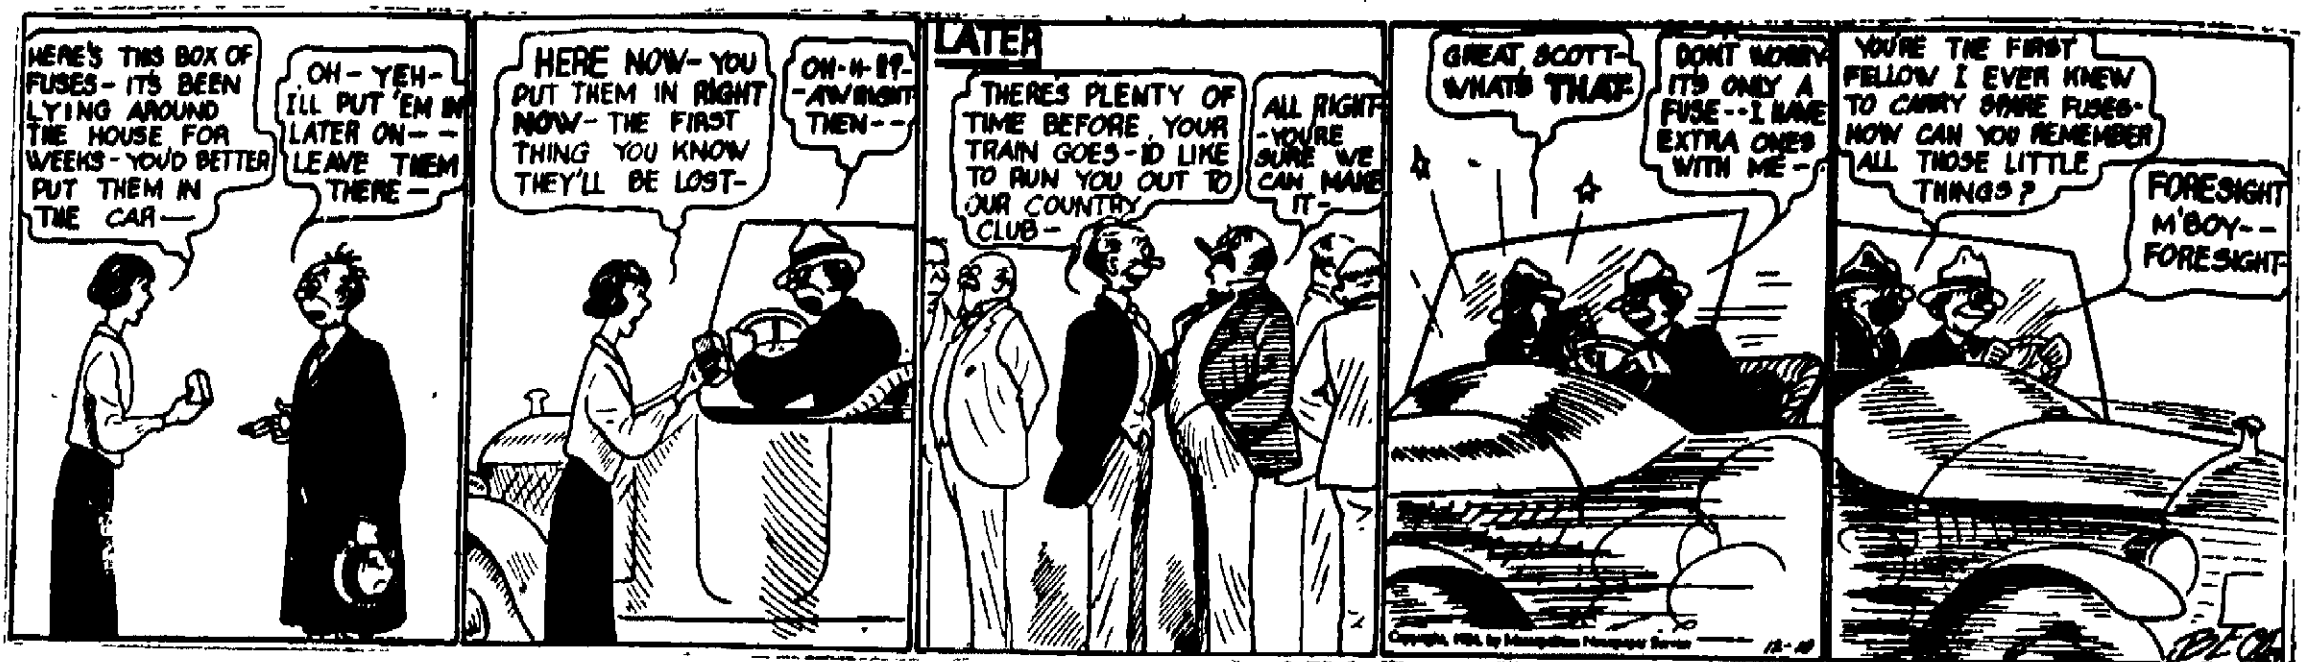

"Bob," said the teacher, sternly, "do you know that you have broken the eighth commandment by stealing James' apple?"

"Well," explained Bob, "I might just as well break the eighth and have the apple to break the teeth and only cost it."

Famous Portrait

The portrait of Mona Lisa was painted by Leonardo da Vinci in the early part of the sixteenth century. It is probably the most celebrated portrait in the world. The subject was the wife of a Florentine, Francesco del Giocondo.

MORE GOOD EATING

Spinach is a vegetable which should be served often, especially in families of growing children. It is best when obtained fresh, though the canned variety will make a fair substitute.

Spinach is a Soups.—Boil one-half peck of spinach in the water which clings to the leaves, stirring lightly at first until the cooking has started the juices. When tender drain, chop, add two beaten eggs and two tablespoonfuls of Parmesan cheese; mix and season with one-half teaspoonful of pepper, one teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of butter and a grating of nutmeg. Cook for five minutes, stirring carefully until the mixture is well-thickened. Remove from the fire and add one beaten egg white. Mold into shapes with a tablespoon and saute in bacon fat. Arrange on a serving dish and pour around them a tomato, bechamel or any other sauce.

Sweet Potatoes Stuffed With Prunes.—Pare and parboil sweet potatoes of oval shape; core with an apple corer, and fill the cavity of each with two or more prunes, previously stoned. Insert into the ends of the potatoes, halving the cores, used as plugs, to keep in the juices. Bake on the grate of the oven with a pan beneath to catch the drippings. For six or eight sweet potatoes place in the pan two cupfuls of water and two cupfuls of sugar and allow to remain until the potatoes are cooked. Remove the potatoes to a warming oven, boil down the syrup, then pour over the potatoes for a glaze. Serve with fried chicken, broiled mackerel or roast goose.

Fruit Salad.—Cut in halves and remove the seeds from Tokay grapes. Slice into small bits celery and firm juicy apple, combine equal parts and mix all together with French dressing. Arrange on leaves of lettuce, mixing a few broken leaves of iceberg lettuce with the other ingredients of the salad.

Do not add the pepper to a French dressing until ready to serve it, as it has a tendency to separate the dressing.

Pearls in Abundance in Scottish Streams

It is not commonly known that the Scotch River Tay and its tributaries produce a rich harvest of pearls which are sold up to high as $50 each. Any one can go pearl-fishing in the Tay and all have equal chances. The professional pearl-fisher has a box-shaped boat in which he floats downwards with the stream, and armed with his simple lens—a piece of glass substituted for the original bottom of a tin can—which when immersed, enables him to see clearly through the surface agitations to the pebbly bottom, and a long stick with a T-shaped notch at the end, grabs all the shells he sees as he lazily drifts past, and at the end of a day his spoil is by no means small. But the amateur disposes with all encumbrances except the notch-stick. With it he simply wades in the shallows and gathers in all the shells he sees within reach. The shells are of various sizes from an inch up to six inches in length, and only one in perhaps ten contains a pearl of value, although many may carry fresh pearls, black or deformed ones, which may be quite salable. A ready market for the pearls obtained in the nearest jeweler's shop, but the professional pearl-fisher produces to deal privately and directly with the tourists who frequent this district, and who probably thus become possessors of a pearl at a fraction of its real commercial value.

Come on a Variation

A man took home a booklet on Etiquette and during a total a guest regaled the party with extracts pronounced according to the instructions supplied.

At last there came a strange sounding word, evidently pronounced with great difficulty.

"Is that really Etiquette?" asked the host indignantly.

"No," was the reply; "that's the book."

Health Board Separates Jobs

Consolidated Position Of Food Inspector and Sanitary Inspector Abolished—Civil Service Board To Hold Examination For Sanitary Inspector.

Under a former administration the board of health consolidated the positions of food inspector and sanitary inspector and for the past few years the consolidated position has been filled by Dr. Harold Clarke. At the regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening the board adopted the motion made by Mayor Morris Block that the position of food inspector and sanitary inspector be divided, and that the board ask the civil service commissioners for an eligible list from which to appoint a sanitary inspector. It is understood that Dr. Clarke will continue to act as food inspector next year.

In order to furnish the health board with the requested eligible list the civil service commission will hold an examination at the city hall on Monday evening, December 22, so that the list may be in the hands of the health board before the annual meeting of that board which will be held Monday, December 23.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATERS.

The present vaudeville program at the Kingston Opera House closes tonight to make room for another all new show tomorrow. The program which closes tonight has pleased large audiences. The photoplay is Colleen Moore in "The Huntress." The feature act tomorrow is Morton and Hayes, James J. Morton, of "O'Brien Girl" musical comedy fame, and Catherine Hayes, featured in "The Passing Show," have written a new comedy sketch of their own and have created a sensation in the big vaudeville houses with it. It is called "The Wanderlust," and critics claim it one of the cleverest offerings of its kind yet offered variety lovers. There are four other good acts and the photoplay, "The Leavenworth Case," a lively mystery drama featuring Seena Owen, Martha Mansfield and Wilfred Lytell.

Today is the last chance to witness the six vaudeville acts that are being offered for the first half of surprise week at the Orpheum. Also the last showings of "Bluff," a first run Paramount picture, featuring Agnes Ayres and Antonio Moreno. Starting tomorrow there is an entire change of program—six acts of vaudeville and "Buck" Jones in "The Vagabond Trail," a first run picture of 1925 product.

At the Auditorium today, Mary Pickford in "Thru the Back Door." This is one of the pictures that Mary made some years ago. One that she liked so well that she made it over again, the same as she did "Tess of the Storm Country."

For the last times tonight, "Empty Hands" will be shown at the Keeney Theater. The old fashioned "crook" story of the screen, which never failed to attract capacity audiences if well presented, is definitely out-dated with Thomas H. Ince's latest production "Those Who Dance," which comes to Keeney's tomorrow for a three day run. The story transpires, for the most part, in the New York underworld, but, instead of the "usual" underworld types, the boot-legger and the hi-jacker and all the other crew that have come into the limelight since the passage of the Volstead law, hold the center of the stage. The novelty of the characterizations and the entirely original situations which result when a girl from the country drops in with the underworld life to get evidence to save her brother, who has been "framed," have developed into a top-notch production. Blanche Sweet as "Rose," puts over a remarkable dual characterization, while Bessie Love, Warner Baxter, Robert Agnew, Lucille Ricksen and Lydia Knott are included in the all star cast.

Invasion Here By Santa Claus

Coming of Santa Claus To Rose-Gorman-Rose Creates Turmoil Among Children—Reception Is Attended By Largest Crowd In History of Store.

As Santa Claus swung from the 7:30 West Shore train Tuesday evening, bound from the frozen north to the store of Rose-Gorman-Rose on North Front street, where he will make his headquarters until Christmas, he was greeted by some 2,000 people, mostly children, who had heard of his coming. In addition to the crowd of men, women and children who crowded about the train as it pulled into the Union depot, the Kosciuszko Band of 18 pieces was present and as Santa Claus appeared on the platform the band struck up a merry tune of welcome.

Immediately upon his arrival he was surrounded by a multitude of children, who grasped his hand and tugged upon him in their eagerness to tell him that they had been good children and then to pour into his ear the list of many things which they desired most on Christmas. Santa Claus in his usual good natured way attempted to shake off the children after informing them that they would be given ample opportunity to tell their many wants when he was comfortably located on the second floor of the big Rose-Gorman-Rose department store, where he would hold a reception. His efforts were in vain and it was not until four husky policemen had rescued him from the crowd that he was able to make his way through the throng to one of the waiting trucks of the R-G-R store, which headed the procession up Broadway and to the store. During the march to the store the band kept up a steady serenade. Hundreds of children followed the procession up the street and Broadway was lined with cars loaded with happy children and their parents, who had come to catch a glimpse of Santa Claus as he triumphantly proceeded to the R-G-R store.

Upon his arrival at the store he immediately went to the second floor, where, in spite of his long, tiresome journey, he insisted on meeting the children and acting as host at the reception which followed. Over 1,000 children were entertained by Santa Claus after his arrival at the store and although the demands made upon the old fellow were immense he was quick to inform the children that he had made all preparations to supply their wants. A message received by him some time ago informed him that the demand for toys and girls of Kingston had been exceptionally good during the past year, and consequently he had made plans to distribute a large amount of toys here.

Every afternoon between 2:30 and 5 o'clock Santa Claus will be at the Rose-Gorman-Rose store, second floor, where he will be delighted to meet the children. In the evening he will be at the store from 7 until 9 o'clock.

At the station Tuesday evening it was necessary to hold the train upon which Santa Claus arrived for several minutes until the howling mob had been cleared away for fear of injuring some of the children, who crowded close about the train in spite of the police protection provided.

The Rose-Gorman-Rose store which remains open evenings from now until Christmas, experienced one of the busiest nights in its history as the children and grown-ups after interviewing Santa Claus proceeded to make a tour of the store, and visit the toy department in the basement. All past records at the store for toy and gift selling have been eclipsed during the past few days.

Santa Claus extends an invitation to all children and their parents to meet him any afternoon or evening at the R-G-R store, where he will assist them in solving the Christmas problem for the kiddies.

Eastman Gives Away Last $15,000,000.GEORGE EASTMAN

Desiring to stop making money for himself, George Eastman, of Rochester, N. Y., president of the Eastman Kodak Company, has given away his last $15,000,000 of stock of the company, retaining only enough to have a vote in the management. This makes $25,000,000 he has given away. Massachusetts Institute of Technology gets $1,500,000; Dartmouth School of Music, Rochester University, gets $1,500,000; University of Rochester Medical School, $1,000,000; University of Rochester College for Women, $1,000,000; Hamilton Institute, $1,000,000, and Tufts in Boston, $1,000,000.

CHIEF FIGURES IN THE NEWS OF THE DAYMRS. CORA LA FORGE & GEN. R. L. BULLARD

Dr. Gustav Stresemann, German Foreign Minister, becomes the winner in German politics as the result of the Reichstag elections. General Robert Lee Bullard, who commanded the American Expeditionary Force in France, and who retired soon as commander of the Third Army, with headquarters in New York, has been declared as the winner of the superior discipline, one of the best as good as three Allied soldiers in the World War. Gen. Bullard, eighty-seven, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, the last survivor of the Light Brigade to ride with Lord Raglan in the charge on the Russian guns at Balaklava, in the Crimean war, died of paralysis. Mrs. Cora La Forge's full name incorporates hyphens as a result of that many marriages. She has just had her eleventh divorce in East St. Louis, Ill., and intends to have another. She is forty-five.

Blind People's Sense of Touch Gets Tired

Touch the second sense the blind turn to (after hearing), has been perhaps most in the spotlight, but at the same time easily the most overrated of all the senses they utilize. First of all, it has a fatigue factor second only to smell, as tactile reading, its most conspicuous application, demonstrates. Apparently, it should be as easy to read lines of embossed characters with the finger tip as it is lines of printed characters with the eye, once the alphabet is mastered. But it is not. Touch simply tires out.

In my own case (and I have been reading by touch 18 years), says Charles McGee Adams in the Atlantic Monthly, two hours is the extreme limit for continuous reading and long before that the end organs are so irritated and there is such a general restlessness that it is most difficult to proceed. The general usefulness of touch is also limited by the fact that it is a motor sense; by which I mean that the fingers must be moved over the surface of an object, instead of merely brought in contact with it, as in the case of sight. Many of the feeling show they are not aware of this when they simply place the hand of a blind person on an object. Reach, too, sets sharply defined bounds to touch's perspective, often resulting in a warped or fragmentary concept of an object, as Kipling's story of the six blind men and the elephant aptly illustrates. It is quite impracticable to touch many objects such as moving machinery, hot metal or live wires, at all—which restricts the usefulness of the sense still further.

Bird's Sense of Duty Helped Out Sportsman

A fresh variant of an old yarn which may be familiar to sportsmen creeps up in an Irish correspondent's letter to the London Field in the following

Stocking-filling?..*your friend the Druggist is the boy to help you!..*He knows what folks like..... from the babies to the octogenarians!..Talk to him..... about Gifts..... from tiny tree-hangings..... to beautiful things for beautiful girls...& for Christmas overmuchness of good things to eat he carries*Jaques Capsules*Guard Against Influenza

Heneph's Lavative Quinine Cold and Grippe Tablets act as a tonic as well as to relieve cold, gripe and influenza. They contain quinine in tonic doses to keep your system strengthened, so as to ward off the first attack of cold, gripe or influenza. Buy a package, take one tablet three or four times a day as a preventative. If you have the gripe severe double the dose. They contain no opiates or acetanilide to weaken the heart. 25 Tablets 25c. 60 Tablets 50c.

"One of our party amuses us with a tall story, classical in the district, viz., how he was coming up to shoot on the moor one morning in winter, all by himself, and saw sitting on the wall a grouse. Now, as has been observed, he was all alone, no witnesses, shooting for the pot and game was scarce. Therefore, contrary to all rules of sportsmanship, he fired at the sitting bird, but when the smoke of his black-powder cartridge had cleared away, there the grouse still was, sitting on the wall. So he fired at it again, same result; he expended 12 cartridges, still the bird remained on the wall. 'Well,' he says, turning to us, 'I thought the bird was bewitched, so I walked up to it, and it flew away, and I went on quite bewildered and would you believe it, on the further side of the wall I picked up 12 dead grouse. You see, there were 18 in the cover sheltering under the wall, and the one I first fired on was the sentry on the lookout for danger, and when he fell the next took his place, and so on.'"

END RHEUMATIC PAIN WITH NEW POWDER FROM ITALYShake It in Your Shoes. No Medicine to Take

Alessandro Volta, the well known Italian physicist, for whom the electric volt was named, has discovered a powder that drives out the agonizing pain of rheumatism. Thousands of sufferers in this country it has already brought relief from pain so quickly that it seems miraculous. This amazing discovery is in the form of a fine powder which, when shaken into the shoe, means to be absorbed immediately into the blood stream through the myriad pores of the foot. This is done, no doubt, to the fact that in the foot there are 10 times as many pores to the square inch as in any other part of the body. And, intended to act at once on the foot, which causes rheumatic pain, Volta powder brings speedy relief in even the worst, most painful cases.

The use of Volta powder has demonstrated such astonishing results in literally thousands of cases, many of which were considered hopeless, that the American druggists have authorized local druggists to dispense Volta to rheumatic sufferers in their city with an unqualified guarantee to return the full purchase price on the first box in any rare case where the rheumatic pains are not wonderfully relieved.

All who suffer from rheumatic pains, no matter how long-standing their case, may be should take immediate advantage of this liberal offer. You can get Volta powder with this guarantee from Mr. E. J. Walker, Bonanza Pharmacy, Weber's Pharmacy, Connelly Drug Co., William F. Dietrich.

Don't Neglect a Cold

Mother, don't let colds get under way; at the first cough or sniffle rub Musterole on the throat and chest. Musterole is a pure, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It draws out congestion, relieves soreness, does all the work of the good old-fashioned mustard plaster in a gentler way, without the blister.

Keep a jar handy for all emergencies; it may prevent pneumonia in your home.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children.

Ask for Children's Musterole. 35¢ & 65¢ in jars & tubes; hospital size, $3.
